City slices 2 mills from budget

By JIM JONES

Responding to what they said was the will of the people, Belle Glade City Commissioners drastically cut their budget Tuesday, Sept. 29, during a morning workshop session at City Hall.

Commissioners agreed to reduce the proposed millage from 8.6 to 6.6 mills, a savings to taxpayers of approximately $200,000.

The cuts closely followed suggested adjustments contained in a memorandum prepared by Mayor Thomas L. Altman Monday, Sept. 28.

Approximately $103,102 of the budget cuts result from a 7 percent across the board adjustment in operating and maintenance costs.

Commissioners made other cuts ranging from $300 for travel to $5,000 for street materials. Fees were also increased for lot mowing and airport rentals.

After all of the cutting was completed, commissioners had rolled back the increase in millage from a proposed 51 percent to about 13 percent.

In his memorandum, Altman called the 13 percent figure "in line with inflation indexes the City experienced this past year."

Tuesday's cuts did not come without much agonizing by commissioners over the two and one-half hour meeting.

"You see what I mean by drastic," Altman asked at one point during the deliberations.

At the outset of the meeting Tuesday, Commissioner Charles D. Goodlett expressed his feelings about a public hearing on the budget Sept. 22.

"They wanted some relief," Goodlett said of the taxpayers who attended the meeting to complain about their high tax bills.

Goodlett noted that the City of Belle Glade is not the only taxing authority which appears on citizen's tax bills.

"We can roll the millage rate back," said Goodlett. "In all fairness to them, we should do something about it."

Goodlett called for the city to get back to "basics" with the budget and said that if the cuts are approved, the city would be on the verge of a holding action. "We won't be able to make a lot of progress," he said.

Goodlett said that he had considered eliminating the recreation department at one time. "If inflation keeps going up and our revenues stay the same, we've got to drop something," he said.

Commissioner Claude Tindall said that he is in agreement with the budget cuts and that department heads will have to "bite the bullet."

"I'm not adverse to what we're trying to do," he said.

Commissioners also considered briefly reducing city employee pay raises. But that avenue was quickly abandoned.

Altman said the city is striving for better paid, better motivated employees.

"We've got it (city pay) up there and we should keep it up there," said Goodlett.

Chief of Police D. Bill Mathis spoke near the end of the meeting and told commissioners that if they cut budgets across the board

Mayor may face removal

By JIM JONES

PAHOKEE—The city commission Tuesday passed a motion by chairman George Goforth authorizing the city attorney to begin the legal and research necessary to bring the mayor before a council in a removal hearing.

Rashley, who waited until many individuals attended a public hearing on the motion last week, the evening had departed, informed the council about 12 citizens that he had called during the past several days earlier and had given them a message from Monday.

When he returned to the council he said he had an alternative but to bring it up.

"I just ignored the request," said Norman "Norman" Norman, according to the motion, who did not attend the city business or attended a city meeting in the past two weeks, two weeks into the struggle over the city budget.

The mayor is responsible for operating the city on a day basis, according to the city charter. He may be charged with malfeasance and misfeasance of duty. After a hearing before the council could be removed from office, according to section of the city charter.

"I don't know. I wasn't there," said Norman. "Section 46 covers a multitude of sins," said Rashley.

"I think when he has been here, he has been a good job," said William E. McKinstry, commission. Rashley, as chairman of the council, fills in for mayor in his absence, according to the charter.

"I've been mayor for the last two weeks and I don't know it," Rashley said. "I don't have the right to be mayor. Mr. Rashley is not campaigning for the I am trying to do what is best for the city."

"It's not fair to the people downtown who were here last night to see the mayor," said one citizen, said Councilman Jon Mock. "It hurts the people who are here and it hurts the city government."

Norman will retain the duties and responsibilities of the office until and unless he is removed by the council, according to council attorney Michael Steward.

"I don't know whether or not I was there last Tuesday of the council," Norman said. "We will see."

City signs housing agreement

By JIM JONES

Belle Glade City Commissioners Monday, Sept. 28, approved a three-year inter-local agreement with the Palm Beach County Housing Authority in hopes of enlarging the city's slice of community development funds.

Remar Harvin, city community development and planning director, advised commissioners that signing the inter-local agreement is the "best way to go."

Harvin said that if the city chose to sign the inter-local agreement it needed to act right away to take advantage of possible funding opportunities.

In other business Monday night, commissioners learned that Harry King, planner with the Palm Beach County Planning Department, had notified the city that the Board of County Commissioners, serving in their capacity as local planning agency, had denied a rezoning and rezoning change for two lots behind Glades General Hospital.

The city had earlier approved the zoning change, but the county cited the high density being requested and the resulting impact of State Road 80 in handing down the disapproval. Some multi-family units are envisioned for the development.

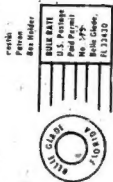

According to a memorandum prepared by Remar M. Harvin, director of the Planning and Community Development Department, Florida statutes prohibit increasing the rezoning of annexed property for two years without county approval.

Mayor Thomas Altman said that the city last submitted information for the comprehensive plan (on which the county's action was apparently taken several years ago. "We made a general, broad recommendation dealing with density," he said.

Altman said that the comprehensive plan should serve as a guide and that the zoning question should

Mayor may face removal

By JEFF BROWN

PAHOKEE—The city council unanimously approved a motion by chairman George Rashley Monday authorizing the city attorney to begin the procedures and research necessary to bring the mayor before the council in a removal hearing.

Rashley, who waited until many individuals who attended a public hearing on the millage rate earlier in the evening had departed, informed the council and about 12 citizens that he had called Mayor Norma Norman several days earlier and had given him a chance to resign by Monday.

When he received no response, he said he had "no alternative but to bring it up."

"I just ignored the request," said Norman Tuesday. Norman, according to members of the council, had not tended to city business or attended a council meeting in the past two weeks, two weeks marked by the struggle over the city budget.

The mayor is responsible for operating the city on a day to day basis, according to the city charter.

He may be charged with malfeasance and nonfeasance of duty. After a hearing before the council he could be removed from office, according to section 48 of the city charter.

"I don't know. I wasn't there," said Norman. "I've been sick the past two weeks."

"Section 48 covers a multitude of sins," said Rashley.

"I think when he has been here, he has done a pretty good job," said William E. McKinstry, councilman. Rashley, as chairman of the council, fills in for the mayor in his absence, according to the charter.

"I've been mayor for the past two weeks and didn't even know it," Rashley said. "I don't have the time to be mayor. Mr. Rashley is not campaigning for the job. I am trying to do what is best for the city."

"It's not fair to the people downstairs who work for him. It's not fair to the public and it's not fair to us," said Councilman Jon Mock. "It hurts the public, it hurts us and it hurts the girls downstairs in the administrative office."

Norman will retain the duties and responsibilities of the office until and unless he is dismissed by the council, according to council attorney Michael Staudard.

"I don't know whether or not I can twin before a hearing of the council," Norman said. "We will see."

Executives attend Dale Carnegie clinic

Glades area executives gathered at the Belle Glade Elks Club Friday, Sept. 25, for a Dale Carnegie Course clinic sponsored by the Belle Glade Lions Club. Lions Pres. Billy Schoenfeld introduced speaker Buddy Faulkner and told how he had benefited from attending a Dale Carnegie Course.

Faulkner said the course will be held in mid-October in Belle Glade. The price is $5.50 for the 14-week course. Classes are held one evening a week. Enrollment information may be obtained by calling Glades Roofing at 996-5284.

Dale Carnegie classes are not new to the Glades area, Faulkner said, noting that U. S. Sugar Corp., A. Duda and Sons, and South Bay Growers are some of the companies which have taken advantage of the classes in the past.

"The Dale Carnegie program offered in Belle Glade is the same as the one offered around the world. The only difference is that local people are involved," Faulkner said. The course concentrates on improving memory, effective communications, enthusiasm, positive outlook, human relations, and self confidence.

The program develops latent leadership, sales skills, and attitudes. Ninety percent of a person's abilities are undeveloped, he said. If the course is able to bring out 4 or 5 percent of a person's latent talent, the overall improvement is actually 20 percent—a noticeable improvement, said Faulkner.

Faulkner said that a person can alter the course of his life by changing his attitude. "We usually have a doubtful attitude about the things we are not familiar with," he said, emphasizing his point by driving a straw through a potato.

LOCAL executives gathered Friday, Sept. 25, at the Belle Glade Elks Club for a clinic on the Dale Carnegie Course. Instructor Buddy Faulkner discusses an upcoming Dale Carnegie class which will be held in Belle Glade. The luncheon was sponsored by the Belle Glade Lions Club.

South Bay plans workshop on license fee hikes

SOUTH BAY—The South Bay City Commission decided to forego the idea of passing an ordinance to raise the city's occupational license fees when angry businessmen crammed City Hall Tuesday night to protest the proposed fee hikes.

During the special meeting, Commissioner Wilbur "Ray" Sullivan moved that the city throw out the whole ordinance and start out all over again because of the unpopularity of the proposed ordinance.

The ordinance was presented to the Commission on Sept. 1 by City Attorney James Gann.

The Commission had instructed Gann to update the ordinance because it had been some years since any adjustments had been made on the city occupational licenses.

Former Commissioner O'Neal Walker suggested the Commission look at a two point plan he proposed.

Walker said it was very obvious the city was "hunting for money" when he looked at the new format for charging for occupational licenses.

Walker said some of the fees had increased 10 times.

"I recommend the city live within its income and the salaries of the Commissioners be looked into. For years the Commissioners served without being paid," said Walker.

"The $14,000 paid the Commissioners could be used by the city," he added.

Mayor Tanner said the section on drink machines had been thrown completely out, which was a major concern of many of the business persons attending the meeting.

Tanner also said the Commission for the past two years had worked diligently with the City Manager to keep the cost of operating the city down and was proud of their efforts.

Tanner said the City work force was at its lowest.

Several citizens complained of the size of the police department, and Tanner said, "for a city the size of South Bay, the city force is actually understaffed."

The proposed ordinance suggested a charge for general merchant licenses would be $50 for merchants with less than $3,500 worth of stock on hand, $100 for stock valued from $3,500 to $10,000; $125 for merchants with $10,000 to $25,000 and $150 for stores with more than that.

Several businessmen wanted to know how the city went about assessing their stock value.

Acting City manager, Leonard Harrelle said, the Chief of Police and police department personnel had made some inspections.

Commissioner Sullivan suggested one third of last year's fee charge be added to this year's fee. Several businessmen said they could go along with that.

A workshop was set for Thursday, Oct. 8 at 8 p.m., with the Commission and members of the business community.

In other business before the Commission:

—Adopted a millage rate of 8.0. The city had received numerous complaints to its first proposed rate of 9.585. The new rate means a $42,065.00 reduction in the amount of revenue the city will generate. The city will now generate $659,492.00 in funds.

seven percent, the city would have an unrealistic budget.

"I feel that the city has done all it can do. There has been a lot of sacrifices made by very department," he said.

Commissioners will not make their action official until their final public hearing on the budget Monday, Oct. 5. No official action can be taken by an elected board at a workshop meeting.

Also tentatively approved was the 1981-1982 budget so that the city can legally pay its bills for the new fiscal year starting Oct. 1.

be resolved by the city.

"We need to take strong issue with the county on this," said Altman, noting that the development would add to the tax base of the city.

Altman recommended that the city's current boundaries and nearby developable land be evaluated and that recommendations for the revision of the comprehensive plan be submitted to the county.

* Agreed to make repairs to the city's water system, including moving pump No. 2 from the Rim Canal barge to Winnie's Cove intake, repairing the electrical wiring panel for water pumps at Winnie's Cove, repairing the pump at the rim canal intake, and repairing the switch at Winnie's Cove.

The action was in response to a report by Commissioner Charles D. Goodlett, who said the system is vulnerable to interruption unless repaired.

20 YEARS AGO
THE GLADES OBSERVER
SEPTEMBER 21, 1961

A short intense manhunt centered in the south end of Pahokee resulted in the discovery and recapture of an escaped Glades Prison inmate less than two hours after he tied up a guard, changed clothes with him, and forced the guard and another prisoner into the trunk of the vehicle in which they were riding.

Mrs. A.M. Pugh was removed by her family at dinner held in Brady's Restaurant prior to Mrs. Pugh's departure by jet plane for Dallas, Texas, for a visit there with her brother-in-law and sister.

This was the first plane ride for Mrs. Pugh who was 86 years old.

At a meeting of the board of directors, Robert F. Fisher was elected president of the Pahokee Chamber of Commerce for 1981-82. Fisher, a general manager for Coca-Cola Bottling Company in Pahokee, succeeded Karl Mindlin, the retiring president.

Miss Katherine Young was elected new worthy advisor of the Pahokee Assembly, Order of Rainbow for Girls, at the first meeting of the fall season held at the Masonic Hall with Miss Alice Hunt, worthy advisor, presiding and Mrs. Marie Hughes, mother advisor, attending.

The Sinclair Refining Company and A.E. Kirchner of Belle Glade, agent, were planning extensive improvements in the Pahokee area and another station in South Bay.

The Sinclair company had recently purchased the large station near the Pahokee State Farmers Market from R.W. Sanders, who retired as Orange State distributor.

ABCs of reapportionment

The issue of reapportionment is probably one of the most critical for the State of Florida for one very simple reason: over the past 30 years, the population in this state has doubled, making it the eighth largest in the nation.

The United States Census Bureau points out that Florida is one of three states which gained over two million people from 1970 to 1979, and among five that experienced more than a 30 percent increase in population during that nine year period.

THE 1950'S: PRELUDE TO CHANGE

Prior to and during the 1950's, reapportionment was governed by the State Constitution of 1885. This archaic document, allowed the legislature to reapportion itself, but because the state Constitution decreed that no county could have more than one state Senator, a mere 17.2 percent of the population from rural districts selected a majority of the state Senate. A comparable situation existed in the state House.

The 1885 Constitution provided that each of the 67 counties must have their own state representative, and the five largest counties were allocated three representatives each. Thus 17.5 percent of the population, again from rural areas, controlled the majority of the then, 95 seat House.

Another peculiar provision of the 1885 Constitution required mid-decade reapportionment. A 1955 study commission appointed by Governor LeRoy Collins recommended a population indexing formula which was designed to reduce the disparity between the distribution of population and the distribution of representation. Although rejected by the rural-dominated legislature in a special session in 1955, the population indexing formula was later cited by the United States Supreme Court in the

Trask Law

A tampuset is brewing over the Trask-Bush Amendment, which cuts off funding for state financed universities which advocate or recognize sex between unmarried persons.

Sen. Alan Trask, D-Winter Haven, wants to take a look at a number of programs at state universities, including Florida State University's Center for Parapsychology Education. The CPE includes in its catalog "Gay and Lesbian Rap Group," "Gay Peer Volunteer Training," and others of a similar ilk.

Not surprisingly, a number of law suits are pending in court. People tend to have strong opinions on this subject.

At the University of South Florida, student government committed an act of deliberate civil disobedience Tuesday, Sept. 22, when it passed a resolution opposing sexual relations between unmarried persons.

The resolution may have placed the existence of USF's student government in jeopardy, but student leaders hope to bring yet another test case to court.

Student senators say this action was taken to preserve its constitutional rights of freedom of speech and assembly.

Two weeks ago, Leon County Circuit Judge John Rudd ruled that the legislature was within its rights in adopting the budget amendment.

Rudd's ruling states that "The Legislature has not prohibited speech. It has come to the decision that educational funds are to be used to educate students, not to provide recognition for, assistance to, or meeting facilities for groups who advocate sexual relations."

Rudd said that the First Amendment does not "Guarantee the right to communicate one's views at all times at all places or in any manner that may be desired."

I believe that the vast majority of citizens, college students and otherwise, view the gay life style as repugnant.

It can be shocking to see some of the groups, which the Trask-Bush law is aimed at, in operation at the state universities. They have their own office space and openly sponsor their own events, such as gay dances.

It is possible that the Trask-Bush law will be successful in removing the state umbrella from some of these groups.

But morality and behavior are difficult to legislate. Prohibition was one of the last great, noble experiments. The federal government found out then that it couldn't cure man's thirst for alcohol.

With the law being tied up in court, there is a chance it may expire before it can be enforced. The law is tied to the state budget, which expires next summer.

Using economic indicators

How reliable are the economic indicators commonly used to describe economic trends? The Consumer Price Index, the Dow Jones Industrial Average, or other well-known indicators, are trusted to help you reach important personal financial decisions. CPAs have this to say: Use the indicators, but understand their limitations.

According to the Florida Institute of Certified Public Accountants, economic indicators are vital in helping people understand the directions the economy is taking. But these indicators should not be regarded as a crystal ball, forecasting what's to come. Here are the chief indicators with advice from the CPAs on how to apply them to personal financial questions.

THE CONSUMER PRICE INDEX (CPI) is the most commonly used measure for the cost of living. Salaries and pension plans are frequently scaled by this index, which tracks the increase or decrease in the cost of food, housing, clothing, medical care and transportation. Calculated monthly, the index tracks the direction and rate of living costs. Last year, according to the CPI, the cost of living increased more than 10 percent. The CPI has decreased slightly this year with an increase of 10 percent from April of 1980 to April 1981.

The first thing to do is compare the CPI with your income. If your income did not increase at least 12 percent last year, your living standard is in jeopardy. To improve it, you must increase your income faster than prices are rising.

If the CPI had increased steadily over the past six months, this might be a good time to start looking for a higher salary to meet increasing living costs. A steady rise in prices usually indicates business growth.

DOW JONES INDUSTRIAL AVERAGE: Almost every TV newscast seems to close with the latest position of this indicator, which measures the action of 30 stocks selected because of their high quality, total market value and broad base of public ownership. These stocks reflect overall market action, and the average is readjusted daily to reflect any fluctuations in these 30 stocks.

Economic

The stock market tends to attract investment when the inflation rate begins to decline - or speculators decide it is about to decline. This may lead you to invest in stock or mutual funds. The stock market is usually one of the earliest indicators of changes in the economy. It declines before a business recession appears. It also will turn upward before the end of a recession, so watch this one closely. The Dow Jones tends to move in the opposite direction from interest rates - but there have been occasional exceptions.

TREASURY NOTES. When the interest rate rises on short term borrowing by the government, it means inflation is continuing. When rates drop, it means inflation may be slowing down. These rates reflect the investment judgement of the thousands of professional bond traders, which makes this index one to watch most closely.

PRIME RATE. This measure increases or decreases in the cost of credit or borrowing, but only for the relatively few most creditworthy business customers. Nevertheless, this rate influences other interest rates. If the prime rate goes up, anticipate that interest rates on money market funds will also increase and you may expect higher yields on investments.

THE HOUSING STARTS INDEX measures the number of new housing units on which construction has begun. This index has been depressed since the mortgage interest rate began its upward surge in recent years. Although increased slightly in the spring, it plummeted again in May. Increased housing starts usually indicates a better market for home buyers, however, this index is based on all housing starts, so a block of luxury high rise condominiums in a resort area could increase the index even though in actuality this would not reflect the market for single family homes.

Economic indicators cannot advise on specific investment opportunities, but if properly applied, they can offer useful clues to economic trends.

landmark Baker vs. Carr decision.

A three-fifths vote was required by the 1985 Constitution in both chambers of the legislature in order to adopt a reapportionment plan, and more than nine special sessions for reapportionment called by Florida Governors over the next ten years failed to achieve any substantial changes in that formula.

The upshot of all of this was the dominance of the rural bloc known as the "Pork Chop Gang" which dominated Florida politics into the 1960's.

The leadership of the House and Senate were controlled by this bloc and road funds, education measures, tax measures and revenue distribution all favored powerful rural interests. Ever wonder why there are four-lane state highways in some of the least traveled areas of the state while the crowded east coast still copes with the highway death toll of many narrow two-lane highways such as the notorious "Bloody 27"? Part of the answer lies in reapportionment patterns of past decades, and underscores the importance of this issue to Southwest Florida in the 1980's.

THE 1960'S: END OF THE PORK CHOP ERA

The vice-like grip of the rural "Pork Chop Gang" was finally broken by the 1962 United States Supreme Court decision of Baker vs. Carr. In that monumental decision, the court ruled that state's must reapportion themselves on the basis of equal representation: one-man, one-vote should carry the same weight anywhere, in the state. The 1965 Florida case of Swan vs. Adams struck down the 1985 Constitutional provisions of geographic apportionment. The legislature attempted another reapportionment plan only to have it struck down in a second Swan vs. Adams case in 1966. The High Court ordered the federal district court to impose its own reapportionment plan if the legislature failed to adopt an acceptable plan. In 1967, the three-judge federal district court adopted a reapportionment plan for the state in a third Swan vs. Adams case. This new plan called for a 48 member state Senate and a 119 member House, with some multi-member and some single-member districts. A population variance of no more than 5 percent from the ideal district population was provided by this plan.

The ramifications of this plan were sweeping. The solid Democratic legislature of the earlier decades was replaced with the first two-party legislatures of the late 1960's as Republicans gained 42 percent of the 1967 Senate and 35 percent of the House, compared with 5 percent and 9 percent of those respective chambers in the 1965 elections.

A special session of the State Legislature in 1967 adopted a total revision of the state Constitution, including a population based reapportionment mandate, that was adopted by the voters in 1968. This set the state Senate at a maximum of 40 Senators and the House at a maximum of 120 members.

THE 1970'S: A DECADE OF GROWTH

In accordance with the 1968 Constitution, the 1972 legislature apportioned strictly on the basis of population with a variance from one district to another of no more than one percent. Census enumeration districts were used for boundary lines and city and county lines ignored in this plan, which was upheld by the state Supreme Court and the Federal District Court.

In 1977, a Constitutional Revision Commission placed on the ballot a provision for changing the state Constitution's reapportionment provisions to mandate single-member district, a bipartisan reapportionment commission, and anti-gerrymandering provision, and maintenance of city and county lines where possible. All of these changes were rejected by the voters in 1978.

A coalition headed by Common Cause and including the NAACP, the state Republican Party and other organizations sought to have the 1980 legislature place the issue on the ballot as a Constitutional Amendment to be considered by the voters that fall. I was one of the legislative cosponsors of this Constitutional amendment, and I continue to support single-member district wherever possible. After the 1980 legislature failed to adopt the provision, the coalition initiated a statewide petition drive, but local chapters of the NAACP and the Republican Party did little to push the measure, according to the leaders of the effort, and the petition drive failed to secure enough signatures to place the initiative on the ballot. SHAPING THE ISSUES With this history, single-member districting and redrawing of districts to more accurately reflect city and county boundary lines will certainly be among the most hard-fought issues.

Bank of Pahokee installs 24-hour teller, the Connexion

Since the installation of its automated teller machines three weeks ago the Bank of Pahokee's The Connexion 24-hour banking service has attracted a tremendous amount of response according to bank management.

The Connexion is an innovative banking service that allows Bank of Pahokee customers to do most of their banking whenever they want to. The automatic 24-hour teller machines can be used 24 hours a day, seven days a week, every day of the year. Both bank branches located at 104 S. Lake St. in Pahokee and 800 S. Main St. Belle Glade have the teller machines.

The bank's primary reason for installing the machines is to enhance and expand the customer services delivery system provided by the bank. The new Connexion will deliver increased customer service convenience through the extension of bank hours and locations.

All that is needed to operate The Connexion automated teller machine is a Connexion card and the customer's secret personal identification code. This code consists of four digits that identifies the customer before a transaction will be made. The code is the customer's protection against unauthorized use of their card.

To obtain The Connexion card a customer must have a satisfactory checking account relationship with the Bank of Pahokee. The card is issued usually the day after the application is made. There are no fees or service charges to the customer for this service. All transactions are accompanied by a receipt for the customer.

Some of the transactions the Connexion cardholder can perform include depositing checks or money into their checking account; withdrawing money from checking; transferring money from checking to savings; depositing money or checks into savings; savings withdrawals; transfers from savings to checking; transfers from savings to make a loan payment; making a checking or savings account balance inquiry; and making a loan payment.

More information can be obtained about The Connexion service by contacting Dale Morris, the head of the Bank of Pahokee ATM Department.

Paul W. Moon, a Pahokee Glades Oil employee, checks out the new Automated teller machine with his Connexion card at the Bank of Pahokee. Both the Pahokee office and the Belle Glade branch bank received the new 24-hour automated tellers three weeks ago. Bank officials are pleased with the community's response.

What's causing budget woes

By JEFF BROWN

Pahokee is having trouble. The city council has found it very difficult to simultaneously operate the community and balance the budget. Either revenues are increased, or some services are lost, the council members are saying. Revenues, of course, are increased by raising taxes.

It's the same story being heard in many town halls these days. But in Pahokee, land owners find their taxes rising an average of 65 per cent. Some have reported tax increases as high as 200 per cent.

Why are property taxes in Pahokee rising at such a rapid pace in this era of tax cuts and reduced spending at all levels of government? What factors have converged to create this difficult situation?

What is causing Pahokee's problems? Inflation can always be blamed for part of the problem. But the taxes are going up 65 percent, not 12, 13, 14 or even 15 per cent.

What is responsible for the bulk of the increase? A combination of elements, including an increase in the gross taxable value of the property in Pahokee, and a decrease in the tax base, has pushed up the value of the mill, the rate property is taxed by.

One mill equals $1 in taxes for every $1,000 in property value. Property value is assessed by a county property appraiser. The tax rate set by the Pahokee city council is 6.5 mills, or $6.50 for every $1,000 of assessed property value.

If an individual owns land in Pahokee assessed at $65,000, the city taxes he or she must pay on that land is $422.50 per year. Enter the county property appraiser, who appraises the property 65 per cent higher. This brings the total value of the property to $107,250. The taxes paid on that property now total $697.13.

This is quite a leap, and many communities have rolled back, or decreased, their millage rates as the gross taxable value of property in their districts rose. Pahokee has not rolled back. It cannot afford to if it intends to provide the services its citizens expect from their government.

Homestead exemptions, discussed later, have lowered the tax base too low for a roll back, council members say. The increased gross taxable value of the area will result in only $110,000 more in revenues at the 6.5 mill rate, they say. They also told citizens the extra $110,000 will be eaten up by street repairs, salary increases, inflation, incinerator repairs, and the hiring of a city manager. The gross total value of the property in the Pahokee area was $26,725,690 in 1980, according to Rebecca Walker, county property appraiser.

In 1981, that figure was increased to $44,099,353, after Homestead deductions. This represents a 65 percent increase. The revenues collected through a 6.5 mill tax in 1980 would total $178,716.98. In 1981, this will increase to $286,646.79.

The Homestead deduction this year is $20,000. Property owners who resided in the state five or more years were permitted to deduct up to $20,000 of the value of their property, if they live on it, from the tax rolls. Next year, that figure increases to $25,000.

"Our problem is that we have a lot of property that falls in the $20,000 range and is almost entirely exempted," said Pahokee City Clerk Betty McCoy. This reduces the tax base of Pahokee even more, and those land owners who own property over $20,000 limit will find themselves making up the loss in increased taxes.

Another factor working against the owners of more valued property is Truth in Millage, or TRIM, adopted last October.

TRIM not only increased the Homestead deduction permitted on property owned by a five- or more-year resident of the state from $15,000 in 1980 to $20,000 this year and $25,000 next year, but it also forced 100 per cent valuation of that property. In the past, property was often assessed at less than full value, sometimes as low as 47 per cent. Under TRIM, all property must be assessed at full value.

Property valued under the $20,000 value set by TRIM falls off the tax rolls, and property valued over that amount is assessed at the full amount, and taxed accordingly.

So here we have an individual living in a house he or she owns a house that was valued at $65,000 in 1980, but was reassessed at $107,250.

If the property owner has lived in Florida for five or more years, $20,000 of that value is tax free. This leaves $87,250 to be taxed at $6.50 on every $1,000. The taxes on that assessment are $567.13.

Last year, the property owner was paying taxes on $60,000 of the $65,000 value because of the $15,000 Homestead deduction. The tax-rate on that amount was still at $6.50 on every $1,000 worth of property. Those taxes totaled $392.

Taxes for that individual have

How can conservation serve the best interests of both FPL and its customers?

Bob Tallon, FPL Executive Vice President, with the Company's Conservation Van, a mobile exhibit of energy saving tips.

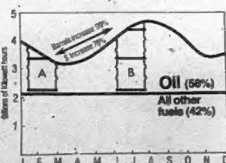

Is conservation really necessary? Yes. We know that many of our customers have been working hard to conserve electricity and it's important to continue with this effort for three main reasons:

First, it will help you gain control over your use of electricity. And a kilowatt hour not used is one you don't pay for.

Second, it reduces our dependence on oil, which is both expensive and vulnerable to interruption. If customers use less electricity, we need less oil to generate that part of their electricity.

Third, it can help limit the need to build costly new generating plants.

I'm already conserving electricity, but my bill is still going up. Why? Mainly because of things neither you nor we can control. Like the cost of OPEC fuel oil, inflation, weather extremes, and unexpected mechanical problems at some of our plants. Where we can exercise control, we do it. For example, before we use oil, we use all our other less-costly generating sources - nuclear, natural gas, and coal-generated power from other utilities brought into the state by transmission lines.

If we use less electricity, won't FPL just raise our rates? No. We're adding more than 100,000 new customers a year, and the revenues from these customers help offset any revenue reductions which may be due to conservation by existing customers. Inflation and fuel prices will remain the major factors in higher costs for customers.

What is FPL doing to conserve fuel? Many things, ranging from supporting research into future energy sources such as solar, to making our plants even more efficient. Here are just three examples:

Newly-designed burners in many units use less fuel and will save over 300,000 barrels of oil this year. The purchase of coal-generated power will save nearly 2,000,000 barrels of oil this year. Our nuclear plants produce electricity at a much lower cost than do conventional plants, and their fuel costs are much lower. Since nuclear operations began in 1972, our three nuclear units have saved the equivalent of over one hundred and thirty million barrels of fuel oil. That's about 1.6 billion dollars in fuel costs our customers did not have to pay.

Will FPL help me conserve? Absolutely. FPL offers home and business energy audits, the Watt-Wise Living program for new home construction, and several other programs to help you conserve. And many new programs are planned for the coming years as part of FPL's "Energy Management Plan for the '80's". In addition, we're continually giving our customers conservation suggestions in folders and other forms of communications.

For more information about a home energy audit or other ways to conserve, contact your local FPL office. We're always ready to help.

Baha'is celebrate Universal Children's Day

BELLE GLADE - In celebration of Universal Children's Day, members of the Baha'i Faith in the Glades area presented the book, "Clementine and Cage," to the Belle Glade Municipal Library for the children's section.

Making the presentation on Monday, Sept. 28, Universal Children's Day were Paula Posas, Tahirah Currie and Jamal Currie.

Universal Children's Day was first celebrated internationally in 1953 under a resolution passed by the United Nations. Since 1953, the number of countries and territories which celebrate the day has grown to 183.

Ann Haskell said Thursday, Oct. 1, is celebrated as Universal Children's Day in the United States.

This year's theme of Universal Children's Day is "First Things First—Fighting Child Disabilities with Clean Water." According to the World Health Organization, approximately one of every 10 children in the world is disabled, blind, deaf, handicapped, retarded, or suffering from some other severe disability.

Eighty percent of the disabilities and illnesses which afflict the world's children could be abolished by one thing: worldwide availability of clean and adequate facilities, according to the World Health Organization. Assisting with the presentation along with Mrs. Haskell was Mrs. Joanne Schwandes. Ma. Cecelia Frederick, clerk typist at the library, accepted the book on behalf of the library.

Deltas present the "Snob Look 81"

The Snob Look featured above will be the look of the 1981 Sephia Fashion Show when it makes its debut in Belle Glade on Oct. 28 at the Glades Central Community School Gym.

BELLE GLADE -The Glades Alumnae Chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Inc., will present "The Snob Look 81," this year's Hamilton Vogue-Esquire Models of Chicago at the Glades Central Community School Gym at 8 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 28.

The fashion show is produced by Carlton M. Hamilton and sponsored by the Glades Alumnae Chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority for scholarships to deserving students.

Hamilton, producer and director for the show, selected fashions from designers such as Bill Blass, Oscar de la Renta, Pierre Cardin, Christian Dior, Calvin Klein and Michael Horton, a young fashion designer, whose designs are featured in the 1981 production of "Sephia Fashion Review".

Hamilton is a graduate of the Ray-Vogue School of Fashion Designing and the Metropolitan School of Fashion Tailoring.

Mrs. Helen R. Cato, general chairperson for the benefit performance, says tickets are now on sale and the sorority expects an even larger attendance than last year.

Tickets are $10 for adults and $5 for students. Tickets may be purchased from any member of the Glades Alumnae Chapter of Delta Sigma Theta.

Reception planned for Dr. Pitts of Atlanta

BELLE GLADE -The Florida Community Health Center and The City Association of Women Clubs invite representatives of the community, churches, clubs, sororities, fraternities and businesses to a reception Friday, Oct. 2, at 8 p.m., at the Lake Shore Civic Center.

The guests of honor will be Dr. and Mrs. Harold W. Pitts of Atlanta, Ga. Dr. Pitts is a physician who will be working in the Belle Glade area for Florida Community Health Center.

Local board members of the Florida Community Health Centers includes Dr. George White, Mrs. Ida Mizell, Mrs. Pauline Lockett, all of Belle Glade, and Elijah Baines of Pahokee.

Mrs. Mizell, president of the City Association of Women Clubs, is requesting all clubs to be present. The organization's quarterly meeting will follow the reception.

Rev. McGahey leads tour of Israel

BELLE GLADE -Joe Ed and Dotsey McGahey returned Oct. 23 from a 12 day teaching tour of Israel. They led a group of 20 persons, including four local residents, Mrs. Frances Murphy, Mrs. Carolyn Priest, Mrs. Mickey Harris and Miss Teresa Sellers. Others in the group were from Orlando, Largo and California.

Rev. McGahey, pastor of the United Methodist Church of Belle Glade, has made eight trips to Israel and this is the sixth tour that he has directed.

"One of the highlights of the trip," said Rev. McGahey, "was having Herbert Priest, Jr. (son of Carolyn Priest), join the group in Jerusalem for three days." "Herbert is now living in Israel on a kibbutz," he said.

The itinerary of the trip included spending nights on the Dead Sea, the Mediterranean Sea and the Sea of Galilee. Five nights were spent on top of the Mount of Olives overlooking the old city of Jerusalem.

Rev. McGahey said, "Each morning we could walk out of our hotel and look down on 4,000 years of history, beginning with the time of Abraham. If one is only somewhat aware of the spiritual heritage of that city of cities, it does something to you."

As the group traveled and stopped at various Biblical and historical places, there was teaching and sometimes a worship service. "There is something very special about teaching God's word at the various places where the events of the Bible took place," said McGahey. "Each time I go with a group of people, I get a new thrill out of helping people discover the reality of Biblical events."

"When one sees the varied terrain of the Bible lands and then hears the Biblical events that happened in those places, they just become more real. A teaching tour to Israel can greatly increase one's understanding of Biblical events and of Biblical prophecy," Rev. McGahey commented.

Two other special events of the trip were a Baptism service in the Jordan River and a Communion and Praise service in the Upper Room.

District Title I meeting at PBJC--Glades

BELLE GLADE -There will be a Title I District Advisory Council meeting at Palm Beach Junior College Glades Campus, Thursday, Oct. 15, at 9 a.m.

All parents and interested residents are invited and welcome to attend. The project planning process, district wide elementary level testing and parliamentary procedures will be discussed.

For further information call Gregory C. Bell, parental involvement coordinator, at 684-5000 Ext. 5197.

Storytime at BG Library

Imagine a place where you can take your children and leave them for one hour each week, no charge.

The people there will show movies to your children, read to them, take them on educational field trips and help them organize puppet shows.

There is such a place in Belle Glade.

Every Friday, from 3:30 to 4:30 in the afternoon, children 6 to 11 can go to the library for Storytime. Saturdays, children old enough "to sit in groups" can go to the library from 10 to 11 a.m. for Storytime.

The older group, which meets on Friday afternoons, will soon be creating their own puppet show to be put on for the younger group, according to Phyllis Lilley, librarian, and Lavenda Coleman, children's librarian.

"The show, the story, the puppets, will be their own creation," said Coleman.

Other activities on schedule are a visit to the fire department Friday afternoon.

Sometimes, things don't go as planned. Last week, a police officer was to talk to the older group about bicycle safety. He never showed up. But the children did see a short film on bicycle safety.

"Does anybody here have a bicycle?" Coleman asked the group of about 20.

Most hands went up.

"I don't," said one boy. "Because it was stolen."

After the film, when it became apparent the police officer wasn't going to show, something else had to be done to entertain the children.

"Has anybody ever been in the bubble?" asked Coleman.

Bewilderment swept across the young faces.

"What's that?" several of them asked.

"Well sit down and you'll see. We'll read to you in the bubble."

The bubble is... well, a bubble.

It is a large clear plastic bubble with a fan on one end and an opening at the other. When the plastic is unrolled and the fan turned on, the bubble fills with air and expands. The librarian climbs in, followed, one at a time, by the children, who sit inside and listen to a story.

When the story is finished and the children, not the librarian, removed, the bubble is rolled up and put away.

"Don't go home and try this," warns Lilley. "It may not be safe."

Soon the children are dismissed, after being told to pass through the library quietly.

It was a larger crowd than usual, according to the librarians.

"We've only had five kids, usually," said Coleman.

The project is an attempt to build interest by getting children to start going to the library at an early age.

Storytime is now on a regular basis for the first time and, unlike the past, features more than movies.

The Rev. Joe Ed McGahey, pastor of the United Methodist Church recently led a tour group through Israel. Among the group were local residents, Mrs. Dotsey McGahey, the wife of Rev. McGahey, Mrs. Frank Murphy, Mrs. Carolyn Priest, Mrs. Mickey Harris and Miss Teresa Sellers.

How can conservation serve the best interests of both FPL and its customers?

Bob Tallon, FPL Executive Vice President, with the Company's Conservation Van, a mobile exhibit of energy saving tips.

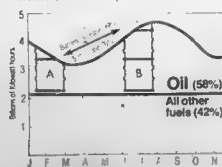

Is conservation really necessary? Yes. We know that many of our customers have been working hard to conserve electricity and it's important to continue with this effort for three main reasons.

First, it will help you gain control over your use of electricity. And a kilowatt hour not used is one you don't pay for.

Second, it reduces our dependence on oil, which is both expensive and vulnerable to interruption. If customers use less electricity, we need less oil to generate part of that electricity.

Third, it can help limit the need to build costly new generating plants.

I'm already conserving electricity, but my bill is still going up. Why? Mainly because of things neither you nor we can control. Like the cost of OPEC fuel oil, inflation, weather extremes, and unexpected mechanical problems at some of our plants. Where we can exercise control, we do it. For example, before we use oil, we use all our other less-costly generating sources: nuclear, natural gas, and coal-generated power from other utilities brought into the state by transmission lines.

A comparison of three months' costs shows the impact of fuel oil on bills. (A) Jan-Mar, 7.4 million barrels, $255 million; (B) June-Aug, 14.8 million barrels, $440 million; (C) Jan-Mar, 7.4 million barrels, $255 million. Annually oil accounts for 58% of FPL's generation.

If we use less electricity, won't FPL just raise our rates? No. We're adding more than 100,000 new customers a year, and the revenues from these customers help offset any revenue reduction which may be due to conservation by existing customers. Inflation and fuel prices will remain the major factors in higher costs for customers.

What is FPL doing to conserve fuel? Many things, ranging from supporting research into future energy sources, such as solar, to making our plants even more efficient. Here are just three examples:

Newly-designed burners in many units use less fuel and will save over 100,000 barrels of oil this year. The purchase of coal-generated power will save nearly 2,000,000 barrels of oil this year. Our nuclear plants produce electricity at a much lower cost than do conventional plants, and their fuel costs are much lower. Since nuclear operations began in 1972, our three nuclear units have saved the equivalent of over one hundred and thirty million barrels of fuel oil. That's about 1.6 billion dollars in fuel costs our customers did not have to pay.

Will FPL help me conserve? Absolutely. FPL offers home and business energy audits, the Watt-Wise Living program for new home construction, and several other programs to help you conserve. And many new programs are planned for the coming years as part of FPL's "Energy Management Plan for the '80's." In addition, we're continually giving our customers conservation suggestions in folders and other forms of communications.

For more information about a home energy audit or other ways to conserve, contact your local FPL office. We're always ready to help.

Baha'is celebrate Universal Children's Day

BELLE GLADE -- In celebration of Universal Children's Day, members of the Baha'i Faith in the Glades area presented the book, "Clementine and Cage," to the Belle Glade Municipal Library for the children's section.

Making the presentation on Monday, Sept. 28, Universal Children's Day were Paula Posas, Tahirih Currie and Jamal Currie.

Universal Children's Day was first celebrated internationally in 1963 under a resolution passed by the United Nations. Since 1963, the number of countries and territories which celebrate the day has grown to 133.

Ann Haskell said Thursday, Oct. 1, is celebrated as Universal Children's Day in the United States.

This year's theme of Universal Children's Day is "First Things First—Fighting Child Disabilities with Clean Water." According to the World Health Organization, approximately one of every 10 children in the world is disabled, blind, deaf, handicapped, retarded, or suffering from some other severe disability.

Eighty percent of the disabilities and illnesses which afflict the world's children could be abolished by one thing: worldwide availability of clean and adequate facilities, according to the World Health Organization.

Assisting with the presentation along with Ms. Haskell was Mrs. Joanne Schwandes. Ms. Cecelia Frederick, clerk typist at the library, accepted the book on behalf of the library.

Hamilton is a graduate of the Ray-Vogus School of Fashion Designing and the Metropolitan School of Fashion Tailoring.

Mrs. Helen R. Cato, general chairperson for the benefit performance, says tickets are now on sale and the sorority expects an even larger attendance than last year.

Tickets are $10 for adults and $5 for students. Tickets may be purchased from any member of the Glades Alumnae Chapter of Delta Sigma Theta.

Storytime at BG Library

Rev. McGahey leads tour of Israel

BELLE GLADE --Joe Ed and Dotsy McGahey returned Oct. 23 from a 12 day teaching tour of Israel. They led a group of 20 persons, including four local residents, Mrs. Frances Murphy, Mrs. Carolyn Priest, Mrs. Mickey Harris and Miss Teresa Sellers. Others in the group were from Orlando, Largo and California.

Rev. McGahey, pastor of the United Methodist Church of Belle Glade, has made eight trips to Israel and this is the sixth tour that he has directed.

"One of the highlights of the trip," said Rev. McGahey, "was having Herbert Priest, Jr. (son of Carolyn Priest), join the group in Jerusalem for three days." "Herbert is now living in Israel on a kibbutz," he said.

The itinerary of the trip included spending nights on the Dead Sea, the Mediterranean Sea and the Sea of Galilee. Five nights were spent on top of the Mount of Olives overlooking the old city of Jerusalem.

Rev. McGahey said, "Each morning we could walk out of our hotel and look down on 4,000 years of history, beginning with the time of Abraham. If one is only somewhat aware of the Spiritual heritage of that city of cities, it does something to you."

As the group traveled and stopped at various Biblical and historical places, there was teaching and sometimes a worship service. "There is something very special about teaching God's word at the various places where the events of the Bible took place," said McGahey. "Each time I go with a group of people, I get a new thrill out of helping people discover the reality of Biblical events."

"When one sees the varied terrain of the Bible lands and then hears the Biblical events that happened in those places, they just become more real. A teaching tour to Israel can greatly increase one's understanding of Biblical events and of Biblical prophecy," Rev. McGahey commented.

Two other special events of the trip were a Baptism service in the Jordan River and a Communion and Praise service in the Upper Room.

District Title I meeting at PBJC--Glades

BELLE GLADE --There will be a Title I District Advisory Council meeting at Palm Beach Junior College Glades Campus, Thursday, Oct. 15, at 10 a.m.

All parents and interested residents are invited and welcome to attend. The project planning process, district wide elementary level testing and parliamentary procedures will be discussed.

For further information call Gregory C. Belli, parental involvement coordinator, at 684-5000 Ext. 5197.

The Rev. Joe Ed McGahey, pastor of the United Methodist Church recently led a tour group through Israel. Among the group were local residents, Mrs. Dotsy McGahey, the wife of Rev. McGahey, Mrs. Frank Murphy, Mrs. Carolyn Priest, Mrs. Mickey Harris and Miss Teresa Sellers.

Church gives pastor farewell

Members of the Alliance Church of Belle Glade gave their outgoing pastor a tearful farewell Sunday at the 11 a.m. service.

Mark O'Farrell, called a "man of God" by more than one of the members in attendance during testimonials, also received a plaque from the Belle Glade Kiwanis Club for his service to the community during his 10 year residency as pastor of the church.

The ceremony, which interrupted the service, resulted in many tear-filled eyes and choked voices.

"Mark O'Farrell is truly a man of God," said one man, choking back tears. "I love him. He is my brother. In the physical (world), I have no brothers or sisters, but in the spiritual, I have many. And Mark O'Farrell is one."

O'Farrell is leaving the Glades area for a church in Port Charlotte. He has been the pastor at Belle Glade Alliance for about 10 years, and has participated in dedication ceremonies, including the Ben Franklin and Glades Plaza dedications, school presentations at the local private schools and benedictions at athletic events.

O'Farrell has also taught bible study and held drug and therapy sessions and Alcoholics Anonymous meetings.

"It sounds like an ending," said Jack Shaffer. "But every ending has a new beginning. It is the end of his life with the members of this church, but the beginning of his life in Port Charlotte. It is the end of our life with Mark O'Farrell, but the beginning of our new life with a new pastor."

Shaffer compared the pastor of a church with the skipper of a ship.

"There is a verse in the Bible which starts 'Mark, the perfect man.' That's how it begins," said one member. "We had a lot of fun taking that out of context. But I would like to say that I worked for a lot of men, and Mark is the only one who never had a bad day. No matter what he was going through, he never had a day when he snapped at you or wouldn't talk. He always smiled and had something to say."

O'Farrell and his wife and two children left for Port Charlotte earlier this week.

THE O'FARRELLS were given an emotional farewell Sunday at Alliance Church. Here, Jack Shaffer, chairman of the Spiritual Aims Committee of the Kiwanis Club, extends good bye wishes of the club to Mark O'Farrell and his wife, Phillis.

Adams Crusade to be in town this weekend

BELLE GLADE - The First Baptist Church of Belle Glade will sponsor the Moody Adams Crusade at the church Oct. 2 through Oct. 4.

Evangelist Moody Allen, who has travelled extensively around the world in attempts to bring Christianity to non-believers will be speaking in First Baptist Church gym each night, beginning at 7:00 p.m.

On Friday, Oct. 2, he will lecture on "Armageddon: The Coming Holocaust" and on Saturday, Oct. 3 he will give a sermon on "Witchcraft, Cults, Demons and Deliverance".

On Sunday, Oct. 4, Evangelist Allen will give the last sermon entitled, "New Signs of the Second Coming." That sermon will be delivered at 8 p.m.

In addition to sermons by Evangelist Allen, Bill Murray, the former executive of the American Atheist Organization will share his testimony and speak at the Moody Allen Crusade on Saturday night.

Murray is best known along with his mother, Madelyn Murray O'Hair as the mother and son who had prayer taken out of the classroom almost 20 years ago.

Murray is now working even harder to put prayer back in the classroom.

"When I was 14 years old, up the American Atheist Organization, I was tearing down the community. The United States, and myself... We have a choice in America. We can return to Christian morals or disband the nation. Man has to be submissive to something. I don't think each of us can go tramping around the world with our own value system. If we maintain those attitudes we are in trouble," he said.

The Moody Allen Crusade has drawn over four million and he has had over 2,000 speaking engagements in the last two years. Among his engagements have been 1,000 college and high school assemblies.

He has written 24 books and his latest was released April of 1981, entitled "Space Travel in Bible Prophecy". The public is invited to attend and all seats are free.

EVERGLADES
PRESBYTERIAN
CHURCH

Church attendance is down in the Glades. This summer was an all time low (in the last 30 years) for most of the churches around Belle Glade.

According to reports that churches in the same districts are experiencing the same thing. This summer a contradiction because a recent poll by Dr. George Gallup, Jr., reported that the ordained ministry is the most respected in the most respected profession. Perhaps people may rate the clergy high but they are not responding to the message, yet this decline of attendance is consistent with the increase of crime.

The response of church people to the acceleration of the crime rate seems to be unconcern and indifference. Many people are wanting to leave the Glades area either for weekends or to relocate.

In a telephone survey of churches it was learned that most churches have showed decreases in attendance in church and in Sunday School. Apathy seems to be a wide spread disease. Rather than Christians looking to God and the church for help, they are trying to run away from problems and trying to escape from them by "sleeping in" as much as possible.

Some people are trying to put the blame on conditions beyond their control. In time to tragedy, the children of Israel in Old Testament would search their souls and try to determine why God had allowed it to happen.

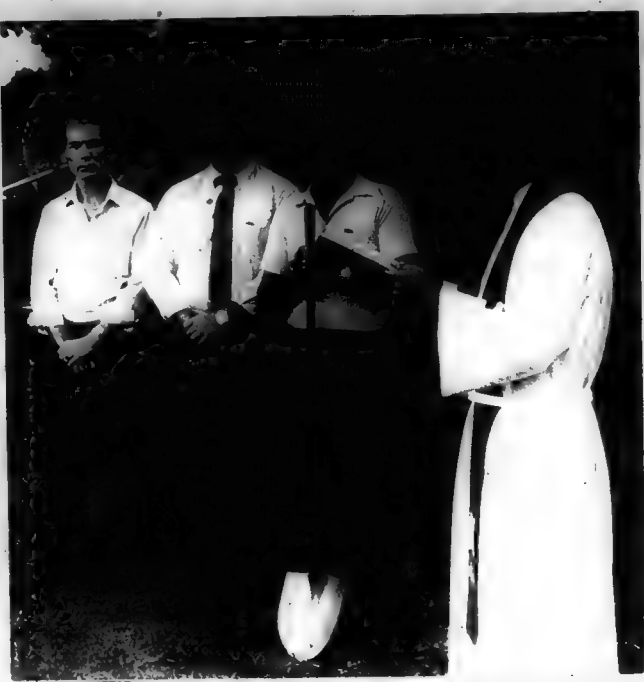

The "new Israel" of the church is trying more programs and more pressure on people.

The messages from the pulpit are not drawing people into the church. Whether people are "sleeping in" or attending the Electronic Church or watch their favorite preacher on television is not known.

Most families have someone who is suffering from a mental, physical or marital problem. To complicate matters are suffering from crime, violence and vandalism. Drinking and drug abuse is on the upward swing. People are withdrawing from religious services where they could find help and encouragement. People in churches are finding apathy is one of the biggest problems. Church members are not seeking help where it is most available and from those the people most respect.

Assuming you care for those near and dear to you, you will want to encourage them to attend a church of your choice. Do it this week. Time passes by and we don't always have all the time we think we have.

Let all Christians gather in churches for World Communion Sunday and bountied in Christ.

THE BENEDICTION for ground breaking ceremonies at St. Peter's Lutheran Church, East Canal Street, Belle Glade, was read from the Bible Sunday, Sept. 27. Taking part in the

Communion scheduled

BELLE GLADE -- The Everglades Presbyterian Church will participate in one of the oldest sacraments of the Christian Church on Sunday, Oct. 4. World Communion will be celebrated by Christians throughout the world.

Dr. David T. Evans, pastor of Everglades Presbyterian Church said this is an annual event in which Christians join in a world-wide meal, the Lord's Supper.

Dr. Evans will emphasize in a special sermon the oneness and the inter-relationship in living and dying of Christians in Christ.

His sermon will be based on "There is one body, and one Spirit, even as ye are called in one hope of your calling: One Lord, one faith, one baptism, one God and Father of all, who is above all, one through all, and in you all." Ephesians 4:4-6.

Dr. Evans said the reason for World Communion Day is to encourage all people to lay aside ill feelings, prejudice and disparagement of others. "At the same time we are called on to be concerned and willing to act positively toward the poverty of another and be open to accept one's own poverty of spirit," said Evans.

George Laird Hunt, editor of the Presbyterian Outlook says, "The double thrust of scripture for World Communion Sunday is this, 'we live for others because Christ lives for us; but we must die for others, die through humiliation of serving forgiveness, because Christ died for us. Living and dying, the people who gather with us, in a fellowship' by space and time, belong to the Lord."

"World Communion Sunday is a day to forgive and join with our senses in Christ at His table for strength for today's living and dying," said Evans.

The service is open to the public.

More than 75 persons attended the program and listened to Mrs. Davidson explain the "Plan of Salvation" through songs; a missionary story on the life of Ammi Carmichael and the life of Daniel and King Nebuchadnezzar.

Mrs. Davidson of Los Angeles is a native of Pennsylvania. She received her training in Child Evangelism Fellowship in the state of California and is a veteran with 17 years of experience. She is married to Mr. John T. Davidson and they are the parents of two children.

A Talk With God

This is a very special moment in Kerry's day. He is about to have his talk with God. Kerry has these talks with God every day. He knows they are important. To God as well as Kerry. Have there been any very special moments in your day? Have you thought about having a talk with God? I was Jesus who pointed to a child a humble faith as an example for all Christians. Learn how important a talk with God is to you both. Make prayer a vital part of every day. Kerry Hall.

Church gives pastor farewell

Members of the Alliance Church of Belle Glade gave their outgoing pastor a tearful farewell Sunday at the 11 a.m. service.

Mark O'Farrell, called a "man of God" by more than one of the members in attendance during testimonials, also received a plaque from the Belle Glade Kiwanis Club for his service to the community during his 10 year residency as pastor of the church.

The ceremony, which interrupted the service, resulted in many tear-filled eyes and choked voices.

"Mark O'Farrell is truly a man of God," said one man, choking back tears. "I love him. He is my brother. In the physical (world), I have no brothers or sisters, but in the spiritual, I have many. And Mark O'Farrell is one."

O'Farrell is leaving the Glades area for a church in Port Charlotte. He has been the pastor at Belle Glade Alliance for about 10 years, and has participated in dedication ceremonies, including the Ben Franklin and Glades Plaza dedications, school presentations at the local private schools and benedictions at athletic events.

O'Farrell has also taught bible study and held drug and therapy sessions and Alcoholic Victorious meetings.

"It sounds like an ending," said Jack Shaffer. "But every ending has a new beginning. It is the end of his life with the members of this church, but the beginning of his life in Port Charlotte. It is the end of our life with Mark O'Farrell, but the beginning of our new life (with a new pastor)."

Shaffer compared the pastor of a church with the skipper of a ship.

"There is a verse in the Bible which starts 'Mark, the perfect man.' That's how it begins," said one member. "We had a lot of fun taking that out of context. But I would like to say that I worked for a lot of men, and Mark is the only one who never had a bad day. No matter what he was going through, he never had a day when he snapped at you or wouldn't talk. He always smiled and had something to say."

O'Farrell and his wife and two children left for Port Charlotte earlier this week.

THE O'FARRELLS were given an emotional farewell Sunday at Alliance Church. Here, Jack Shaffer, chairman of the Spiritual Aims Committee of the Kiwanis Club, extends good bye wishes of the club to Mark O'Farrell and his wife, Phillis.

Adams Crusade to be in town this weekend

BELLE GLADE -- The First Baptist Church of Belle Glade will sponsor the Moody Adams Crusade at the church Oct. 2 through Oct. 4.

Evangelist Moody Allen, who has travelled extensively around the world in attempts to bring Christianity to non-believers will be speaking in First Baptist Church gym each night, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

On Friday, Oct. 2, he will lecture on "Armageddon: The Coming Holocaust," and on Saturday, Oct. 3 he will give a sermon on "Witchcraft, Cults, Demons and Deliverance".

On Sunday, Oct. 4, Evangelist Allen will give the last sermon entitled, "New Signs of the Second Coming." That sermon will be delivered at 8 p.m.

In addition to sermons by Evangelist Allen, Bill Murray, the former executive of the American Atheist Organization will share his testimony and speak at the Moody Allen Crusade on Saturday night.

Murray is best known along with his mother, Medalyne Murray O'Hair as the mother and son who had prayer taken out of the classroom almost 20 years ago.

Murray is now working even harder to put prayer back in the classroom.

"While I was building up the American Atheist Organization, I was tearing down the community. The United States, and myself... We have a choice in America. We can return to Christian morals or disband the nation. Man has to be submissive to something. I don't think each of us can go tramping around the world with our own value system. If we maintain those attitudes we are in trouble," he said.

The Moody Allen Crusade has drawn over four million and he has had over 2,000 speaking engagements in the last two years. Among his engagements have been 1,000 college and high school assemblies.

He has written 24 books and his latest was released April of 1981, entitled "Space Travel in Bible Prophecy".

The public is invited to attend and all seats are free.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Church attendance is down in the Glades. This summer was an all time low (in the last 20 years) for most of the churches around Belle Glade.

According to reports that churches in the same districts are experiencing the same thing. This seems a contradiction because a recent poll by Dr. George Gallup, Jr., reported that the ordained ministry is the most respected in the most respected profession. Perhaps people may rate the clergy high but they are not responding to the message, yet this decline of attendance is consistent with the increase of crime.

The response of church people to the acceleration of the crime rate seems to be unconcern and indifference. Many people are wanting to leave the Glades area either for weekends or to relocate.

In a telephone survey of churches it was learned that most churches have showed decreases in attendance in church and in Sunday School. Apathy seems to be a wide spread disease. Rather than Christians looking to God and the church for help, they are trying to run away from problems and trying to escape from them by "alleviating in" as much as possible.

Some people are trying to put the blame on conditions beyond their control. In time to tragedy. The children of Israel in Old Testament would search their souls and try to determine why God had allowed it to happen.

The "new Israel" or the church is trying more programs and more pressure on people.

The messages from the pulpit are not drawing people into the church. Whether people are "sleeping in" or attending the Electronic Church or watch their favorite preacher on television is not known.

Most families have someone who is suffering from a mental, physical or marital problem. The communities are suffering from crime, violence and vandalism. Drinking and drug abuse is on the upward swing. People are withdrawing from religious services where they could find help and encouragement. People in churches are saying apathy is one of the biggest problems. Church members are not seeking help where it is most available and from those the people most respect.

Assuming you care for those near and dear to you, you will want to encourage them to attend a church of your choice. Do it this week. Time passes by and we don't always have all the time we think we have.

Let all Christians gather in churches for World Communion Sunday and be united in Christ.

Dr. David T. Evans, pastor of Everglades Presbyterian Church said this is an annual event in which Christians join in a world-wide celebration, the Lord's Supper.

Dr. Evans will emphasize in a special sermon the oneness and the inter-relationship in living and dying of Christians in Christ.

His sermon will be based on "There is one body, and one Spirit, even as ye are called in one hope of your calling: One Lord, one faith, one baptism, one God and Father of all, who is above all, one through all, and in you all." Ephesians 4:4-6.

Dr. Evans said the reason for World Communion Day is to encourage all people to lay aside ill feelings, prejudice and disparagement of others. "At the same time we are called on to be concerned and willing to act positively toward the poverty of another and be open to accept one's own poverty of spirit", said Evans.

George Laird Hunt, editor of the Presbyterian Outlook, says: "The double thrust of scripture for World Communion Sunday is this; 'we live for others because Christ lives for us; but we must die for others, die through humiliation of asking forgiveness, because Christ died for us. Living and dying, the people who gather with us, in a fellowship inhibited by space and time, belong to the Lord.' "World Communion Sunday is a day to forgive and join with our sameness in Christ at His table for strength for today's living and dying," said Evans.

The service is open to the public.

Interior plant seminar Friday

BELLE GLADE—Many residents are interested in adding interior plants to brighten up their homes or perhaps to give a more tropical look to a patio or screen porch.

Unfortunately, many people lack proper knowledge of how to select the right types of foliage plants for the right location and also how to recognize and combat various pests or problems that might occur.

To assist Glades residents in the selection and care of many popular indoor foliage plants, Gene Joyner, Urban Horticulturist, Palm Beach County Cooperative Extension Service, will be conducting a free illustrated seminar Friday, Oct. 2 from 9:30 a.m. to 11 a.m. at the Glades Extension Office, 2979 North 441, Belle Glade.

In addition to the slide lecture, pamphlets on indoor plants will be given out to those in attendance.

The seminar is open to the public.

Council retains millage rate

PAHOKEE—The Pahokee City Council unanimously approved a budget 14.5 per cent higher than last year's Monday night.

The 6.5 mill rate called for in the budget is the same as last year's, but it is expected to generate about $110,000 more in revenues.

The 6.5 millage rate is .65 per cent over the one back this which would be necessary to equal last year's revenues. The rate generates more revenue this year due to the increased gross taxable valuation the county-wide reassessment has created.

The new budget contains a 10 per cent increase for city employees, according to the council members.

Randall Mills, Pahokee resident who attended a public hearing before the budget was voted on, disagreed with the figures the council put forward.

"Things are a little bit different than has been indicated," Mills said. "The actual figure for salaries, excluding the city manager, is closer to 25 per cent higher than 10."

Mills, using nine months worth of the city's 1980-1981 financial statements, projected what the city will have spent at the end of the 1980-1981 fiscal year if it continues spending at the same rate.

"Pahokee will have spent $1,045,000 of the $1,145,545 budgeted," he said.

"Do you know of anything put in (the 1981-82 budget) that you have no intentions of spending?" asked Mills.

"No, I don't," replied William E. McKinstry, councilman.

"We're not a bunch of fortune tellers," said George Rashley, council chairman. "The budget is nothing more in the world but paperwork. I believe we cut it to the bone."

"Who's to say we didn't spend a lot more in the final three months (than in the earlier part of the year)?" asked Betty McCoy, city clerk.

C.R. Martin of Palm Boulevard said the council that the black community lives on the "loudest streets in town. And we're still paying increased taxes."

"I agree with you, go ahead," replied Rashley.

"Are we going to get some consideration on that?"

"If I have anything to do with it, I'll see to it that that's one of the them (streets to be improved)," responded Rashley.

"Now I've heard that three times before," said Martin.

"I'll see that it's taken care of," said Hugo Rainier, councilman.

"This place is in a dying stage, you know that," Martin said later. "I see a lot of places, every place but this, building all the time. And we don't have hardly a street to walk on, but our taxes went up 71 percent."

"Truck farming brought in a good deal of the economy," said Rashley. "But truck farming is just about a thing of the past. Now its sugar cane and it doesn't bring in nearly the amount of people."

"I'm going to disagree with you," said Martin. "Belle Glade, right down the road here, is building all the time, every day."

"So many home values went up and to the increased assumption that we voted on," said Linda Moss. Property owners are paying for the 18 percent increase in taxes and making up for the people dropped from the tax rolls, she said. "It's up to us to find a way to get those people to pay their share. They (the council) did all they can do. They're taking a lot of off-rat from us and I'm sure glad I'm not up there."

The budget, which was passed without any dissenting votes, provides for a total of $1,359,136.14 in expenditures and revenues.

About $50,000 was budgeted for a half-year's salaries for a city manager, should the city decide to adopt the city manager form of government.

Approximately 20.5 per cent of the revenues will be made through property taxes.

In other business, the council heard the first reading of a bill which raises the rates charged for water services.

The proposed rates are $6 per 1,000 gallons for the first 3,000 gallons inside the city, and $7.50 outside the city. For every 1,000 gallons over that, the bill will be $1.90 inside the city and $2.375 outside.

A public hearing on the rates will be held October 13.

The council also adopted a straw-bailot on the question of whether Pahokee should change to a city manager form of government.

COMMISSIONER CHARLES GOODLETT, former Belle Glade police chief, cuts the ribbon at the new Policemen's Benevolent Association

PBA opens new clubhouse

BELLE GLADE - The Belle Glade Policemen's Benevolent Association Friday, September 25 dedicated its new clubhouse to the memory of Tim Corderman.

Work on the clubhouse, done by members of the association, was not completed until shortly before the dedication. "This is a good example of what people can do when everybody joins in," Police Chief D. Bill Mathis told the group gathered to celebrate the dedication.

"You would never believe it's possible, but the people in the department have never failed to get off their duffs and get the job done when it's needed."

Bobby Newman, a former lieutenant on the force and one of two original members of the association in attendance, reminisced about his efforts to organize the first Policemen's Ball.

"We earned about $200 from selling 65 tickets," he said. "There weren't enough police officers to attend the ball and patrol the parking lot."

City Commissioner Charles Goodlett, former police chief and an original member of the association, cut the ribbon for the dedication ceremony.

"As long as you handle yourself, the business of the PBA, I'm sure the city will always welcome you. I think all of you are to be commended," Goodlett said.

The new clubhouse is located in building once used by the Jaycees.

Bluegrass bands will pick 'n' grin at Belle Glade Holiday Inn

BELLE GLADE - Top name country bluegrass talent will headline the first annual Holiday Inn of Belle Glade Country Bluegrass Festival for three days in mid-October, announced David Perella, general manager, this week.

Headliners for the three-day event on October 16-18 include major recording artist Hughie Burns and his County Line Band, Lonnie Jolson, one of South Florida's top attention-getters, South Florida bluegrassers the City Limits Band and more great acts.

Billed as a "bluegrass and country weekend," the festival will headline the stars in continuing entertainment for Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Perella noted the increased popularity of bluegrass music, one of America's fastest growing entertainment attractions, plus the pleasant "country" atmosphere of the southeast Everglades is expected to draw up to 4,000 enthusiastic music lovers to the event, first of its kind in the area.

Central Florida has witnessed some of the same top names in festivals that have drawn many thousands of fans, some ardent "purists" and more newcomers to the popular outdoor event.

An "open air" stage "under the South Florida stars" will be the center attraction for all three days with the entertainment continuing non-stop from early afternoon until late in the evening beginning Friday Oct. 16.

The three-day event is promoted by Simon Train, one of the industry's top name major market country and western radio personalities. Train has lined up top talent in the country bluegrass field and as the date draws near is expected to announce more attractions.

Special admissions range from a day's pass for adults at $4.00 for Friday and Sunday and $8.00 for Saturday, to a special three-day $12.00 general admission price.

Children under 12 are free when accompanied by a paying adult as an invitation to "bring the whole family," Perella noted.

Gates open on the fully controlled showgrounds area around the spacious Holiday Inn complex at 6 p.m. on Friday, Oct. 16 for the first show. Entertainment will continue non-stop both on the grounds and inside. Saturday Oct. 17 the gates will open at 1 p.m. "until" and Sunday opening is also 1 p.m.

Special bonus weekends packages have been arranged at the Holiday Inn for throughout the three-day festival with special prices on rooms and the events surrounding the festival, Perella said.

rise $242.16, or 74.5 percent.

The budget passed by the Pahokee City Council Monday, September 28, is about 14.5 percent higher than the one the city operated on last year.

Property taxes increased an average of 65 percent.

Why the discrepancy? Why have property taxes gone up more rapidly than the budget, on a percentage basis?

Property taxes make up only 20.49 percent of the budget.

The rest of the revenue is generated by a variety of other taxes, including taxes on utility franchise; licenses for professional, trailer and taxicab operators; alcohol and transportation taxes; and garbage collection fees.

Some of these taxes hit every resident more equitably than others. The garbage fees would affect all residents. If it were increased by $1.50, council members suggested that a mill could be knocked off the property tax rate.

When this was suggested at the public hearing immediately prior to adoption of the budget, it met lukewarm support from those in attendance, and never reached the status of an official motion.

The property tax is hitting the property owners hard. It may be inequitable, but in many respects, the property owners have only themselves to blame. They voted in TRIM a year ago. TRIM forced 100 per cent valuation of their property, and at the same time decreased the tax base in their community.

The broader the tax base, the more "help" the property owners will have in paying his or her taxes.

With the tax base decreased, those still on the rolls have to make up the difference created by inflation and a depleted tax base.

MacDonald leads Raiders over Jupiter

The Jupiter High Warriors came to Glades Central last week, and ran into trouble — by the name of Raymondo MacDonald.

The senior wide receiver connected with quarterback Jacob Rhames three times for 96 total yards, scoring two of the five Raider touchdowns.

The Raiders won the game 32-0, and now possess a record of 2-1. They have outscored their opponents 64 to 11 in the first three games of the season, gained while Jupiter picked up only 78 passing yards.

"I'm not completely satisfied, but pretty satisfied (with Rhames)," said McCoy. "Sometimes he doesn't release the ball soon enough. Those are things we have to improve. We can't stay at the same level. We have to get better. It's (the competition) going to get tougher from here on out. Each week it will get a little tougher."

Jeff Willis substituted for Rhames for a couple minutes near the end of the game, but couldn't move the ball.

This week, Glades Central travels to Cardinal Newman.

"We'll be ready for them," said McCoy, who added ed that the team will be working on its running game. "There's too many mistakes. Penalties also. We got too many penalties."

The Raiders were penalized 17 times for 155 yards Friday.

Other Raider standouts included Michael Stinson, who assisted in nine tackles and made nine solo tackles, and Joseph Rutledge who carried the ball 10 times for 55 yards and a two point conversion.

MacDonald has come to the attention of quite a few major universities, recently, including Georgia, Florida, Florida State, Miami, Clemson, Michigan, Michigan State and Ohio State universities, according to Raider Coach Ben McCoy.

The Raiders dominated the game in almost every aspect Friday night.

They picked up 11 first downs while holding the Jupiter Warriors to only three. The Raider defense tied up the Warriors at the line of scrimmage, permitting a gain of only two yards.

Although Jacob Rhames' six completions in 13 attempts was topped by Jupiter's 10 completions in 24 attempts, he led the team to a total of 178 yards

RAYMONDO MACDONALD (80) tries to catch a Jacob Rhames pass. MacDonald caught two touchdown passes in the game, and has about nine major universities interested in him and his gridiron talents.

Crusaders find young QB in loss to St. Edwards

Even in defeat, a coach may find something worth smiling about.

The Christian Day Crusaders may have lost to St. Edwards 6-12 in double overtime, but they may also have found themselves a diamond in the rough in the form of Tipso Paes.

Paes, a ninth grader making his first appearance at quarter back, has probably earned himself the starting spot at that position with the team.

"He did exceptionally well," said coach Woody Salvatore.

Paes, who started the game, completed five passes in 18 attempts, and connected with receiver Robert Echols for his "first ever" touchdown pass.

The Crusaders also got a good game from James Barnwell, who played defense and fullback.

At fullback, Barnwell moved the ball for an average of 3.4 yards per carry. He also made 14 tackles while playing defense.

The game was tied 0-0 at the end of regulation play.

In the first overtime, Paes hit Echols for the first score of the game.

But soon afterwards, St. Edwards had moved to within five yards of the goal and had a first down.

The Crusader defensive line, strong all afternoon, held for three downs as St. Edwards tried to drive up the middle.

On the fourth and last attempt, St. Edwards moved the ball to the outside and scored.

In the second overtime, St. Edwards succeeded in scoring the game winning TD in a duplication of their first scoring drive.

The Crusaders will be working on their offense and turnovers mainly in preparation for this week's game against Gold Coast Christian.

"The defense was pretty good," said Salvatore. "The offense was not up to 'par, and we'll have to work on it."

Christian Day is now 0-3.

Westwood beats Pahokee

The rain came. It drenched the field. It made the ball slippery.

And, according to Pahokee High football coach Sandy Hyneman, it was a major factor in the Blue Devils' 14-0 loss to the Westwood Panthers.

"It rained real hard the first half," he explained. "And the offense was stymied by poor field position and the playing condition."

Pahokee is now 0-2 on the year. The Devils have been outscored six to 24 in their first two contests of the year.

Both Panther touchdowns came in the first half. The Blue Devil defensive team blocked the first attempt at an extra point, but after the second six-pointer, the Panthers succeeded in an attempt at the two point conversion.

The Pahokee defense also blocked a field goal attempt.

"The defense looked good considering their position," said Hyneman. "It shut down their offense in the second half for the most part. It blocked an extra point and a field goal and recovered a couple of fumbles."

Hyneman said he will be working on the offense in preparation for this Friday's game against Fort Pierce Central, but doesn't place all of the blame on his offensive team.

"Part of the fault was not the players," he said. "It's my fault for running an offense we aren't suited for personnel wise. We don't have speed. We're a small, slow team. We should revamp to an offense more suited for a small, slow team."

"We've got a good chance of winning (this week)," he continued. "We need to cut down on penalties. We're getting penalized about 100 yards a game, which is about three times as much as you need."

Tomorrow night's game is scheduled for 8 p.m. at Fort Pierce Central. The Blue Devils home opener is scheduled for next week against Forest Hill.

Horse breaks auction record

A horse is a horse, of course.

Unless, of course, the horse is Easy Prince. Then it holds the all-time record price paid for a quarter horse at the All-American Select Quarter Horse Yearling Sale.

The yearling went for $400,000 at the 20th annual sale. The previous record was $277,000 paid last year for Sparkalark, a filly.

Easy Prince, formerly owned by Sam and Mona Knight Jr., was picked up for the tidy sum by Patricia Beck of Burrell, Texas.

Sired by Easy Jet, the 1969 All-American Futurity winner, Easy Prince is out of Go Galla's Lady, a $19,814 career winner.

The Knights, Easy Prince's sellers, are former residents of Belle Glade.

Bluegrass bands will pick 'n' grin at Belle Glade Holiday Inn

BELLE GLADE — Top name country bluegrass talent will headline the first annual Holiday Inn of Belle Glade Country Bluegrass Festival for three days in mid-October, announced David Perella, general manager, this week.

Headliners for the three-day event on October 16-18 include major recording artist Hughie Burns and his County Line Band, Lonnie Johnson, one of South Florida's top attention-getters, South Florida bluegrassers the City Limits Band and more great acts.

Billed as a "bluegrass and country weekend," the festival will headline the stars in continuing entertainment for Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Children under 12 are free when accompanied by paying adults as an invitation to "bring the whole family," Perella noted.

Gates open on the fully controlled showgrounds area around the spacious Holiday Inn complex at 6 p.m. on Friday, Oct. 16 for the first show. Entertainment will continue non-stop both on the grounds and inside. Saturday Oct. 17 the gates will open at 1 p.m. "until" and Sunday opening is also 1 p.m.

The Jupiter High Warriors came to Glades Central last week, and ran into trouble -- by the name of Raymondo MacDonald.

The senior wide receiver connected with quarterback Jacob Rhames three times for 96 total yards, scoring two of the five Raider touchdowns.

The Raiders won the game 32-0, and now possess a record of 2-1. They have outscored their opponents 64 to 11 in the first three games of the season.

gained while Jupiter picked up only 78 passing yards.

"I'm not completely satisfied, but pretty satisfied (with Rhames)," said McCoy. "Sometimes he doesn't release the ball soon enough. Those are things we have to improve. We can't stay at the same level. We have to get better. It's (the competition) going to get tougher from here on out. Each week it will get a little tougher."

Jeff Willis substituted for Rhames for a couple minutes near the end of the game, but couldn't move the ball.

This week, Glades Central travels to Cardinal Newman.

"We'll be ready for them," said McCoy, who added that the team will be working on its running game. "There's too many mistakes. Penalties also. We get too many penalties."

The Raiders were penalized 17 times for 155 yards Friday.

Other Raider standouts included Michael Stinson, who assisted in nine tackles and made nine solo tackles and Joseph Rutledge who carried the ball 10 times for 55 yards and a two point conversion.

MacDonald has come to the attention of quite a few major universities, recently including Georgia, Florida, Florida State, Miami, Clemson, Michigan, Michigan State and Ohio State universities, according to Raider Coach Ben McCoy.

The Raiders dominated the game in almost every aspect Friday night.

They picked up 11 first downs while holding the Jupiter Warriors to only three. The Raider defeated the Warriors at the line of scrimmage, permitting a gain of only two yards.

Although Jacob Rhames' six completions in 13 attempts was topped by Jupiter's 10 completions in 24 attempts, he led the team to a total of 178 yards.

RAIDER RANDY RUTLEDGE (40) is brought down by a Warrior in last Friday's game. Robert Brown (83) is providing the blocking. Raiders won the game 32-0

Westwood beats Pahokee

The rain came. It drenched the field. It made the ball slippery.

And, according to Pahokee High football coach Sandy Hyneman, it was a major factor in the Blue Devils' 14-0 loss to the Westwood Panthers.

"It rained real hard the first half," he explained. "And the offense was stymied by poor field position and the playing condition."

Pahokee is now 0-2 on the year. The Devils have been outscored six to 24 in their first two contests of the year.

Both Panther touchdowns came in the first half. The Blue Devil defensive team blocked the first attempt at an extra point, but after the second six-pointer, the Panthers succeeded in an attempt at the two point conversion.

The Pahokee defense also blocked a field goal attempt.

"The defense looked good considering their position," said Hyneman. "It shut down their offense in the second half for the most part. It blocked an extra point and a field goal and recovered a couple of fumbles."

Hyneman said he will be working on the offense in preparation for this Friday's game against Fort Pierce Central, but doesn't place all of the blame on his offensive team.

"Part of the fault was not the players," he said. "It's my fault for running an offense we aren't suited for personnel wise. We don't have speed. We're a small, slow team. We should revamp to an offense more suited for a small, slow team."

"We've got a good chance of winning (this week)," he continued. "We need to cut down on penalties. We're getting penalized about 100 yards a game, which is about three times as much as you need."

Tomorrow night's game is scheduled for 8 p.m. at Fort Pierce Central. The Blue Devils home opener is scheduled for next week against Forest Hill.

Horse breaks auction record

A horse is a horse, of course. Unless, of course, the horse is Easy Prince. Then it holds the all-time record price paid for a quarter horse at the All-American Select Q and Horse Yearling Sale.

The yearling went for $400,000 at the 20th annual sale. The previous record was $277,000 paid for a year for Sparklark, a filly.

Easy Prince, formerly owned by Sam and Mrs. Jack of Burnet, Texas, was picked up for the sale by the 1989 All-American Quarter Horse Yearling Sale. Easy Prince's out of Go Galas Lady, a 1981 yearling winner, was sold to the Knights. Easy Prince's sellers are the owners of Belle Glade.

Murtland to chair MS

FORT LAUDERDALE — Susan R. Murtland of Pompano Beach has been appointed executive director of the Multiple Sclerosis Society's Gold Coast Chapter serving Broward, Palm Beach, Martin, Okeechobee, Hendry and Glades counties.

She was executive director for six years of a west coast chapter of the March of Dimes — Birth Defects Foundation of Florida. For three of those years, her chapter was selected the best in the state for its overall activities, including patient services and fundraising.

"I look forward to being invited to speak to clubs, health fairs and health seminars in those six counties to explain what Multiple Sclerosis is, and what's being done about it," she said.

"We're looking for victims and volunteers, too. Our chapter wants to know the names and addresses of persons in Broward, Palm Beach, Martin, Okeechobee, Hendry and Glades counties who have this disease. And we want to be available to the families of those victims.

"Many people don't know they have MS because there is such limited public awareness about this central nervous system disease. It strikes just when a person is beginning to live, usually between the ages of 15 and 50.

"Probably the best known victim of MS is Richard Queen. He was one of the hostages of Iran. Then his captors realized Queen had a medical problem they couldn't understand and he was released.

"But because the cause and cure of MS are unknown, Queen and others like him face an uncertain future. It could mean years of progressive disability and maybe paralysis. Or he could have a mild case with few symptoms.

"We are also seeking volunteers to help the MS Chapter. People are needed to donate time for office work, public speaking about MS, fundraising efforts and helping with various patient services," she said.

Wilson is a 6'3", 205 pound tight end from Pahokee High School.

The Panthers, now 2-0 after a 38-7 win over Cincinnati, will have a week off before they travel to South Carolina for an October 3 game with the Gamecocks.
